Learn what a catchment group is and how you can start your own group.

Let Otago's Lloyd McCall inspire you with his story about forming the Pomahaka Water Care Group, and the way they managed to get so many people involved and passionate about water quality. Rick Burke will give a local perspective on the work in his catchment with Project Parore.

Attendees will be able to ask Lloyd and other local catchment group leaders questions before a brief workshop on the first steps to starting a catchment group.

This is a not-to-be-missed event and we promise you will be inspired and informed!
